Talks Plain Language To Baer.

Insists That Union Should Be Recognized

BUT OPERATORS ARE FIRM IN THEIR STAND

MITCHELL LEAVES NEW YORK

Galusha Grow interviewed, on the situation—Operators to try to start work Monday.

New York, Oct. 11.—"What do you mean by politicians? I want you and all the other operators to understand
that I am the governor of New York,
the chosen representative of seven

GEORGE F. BAER.

million of people, and that I am here
in this matter solely in that capacity
and to relieve, if possible an intolerable situation. And what is more, I intend to use every power at my command to do it."

Governor Odell made this statement
to President Baer of the Reading road
at the culmination of a heated interview in Senator Platt's office.

"If you mean by that," said Mr.
Baer, "that we are to recognize the existence of a labor union I will tell you right now that the operators will consider no such proposition."

White with excitement, Governor
Odell said:

"Are we to understand that no
kind of a conciliatory proposition will receive consideration at the hands of the operators?"

"I did not say that," answered Mr.
Baer, "but I did say, and I reiterate
it, that we will not accept political advice nor allow the interference of politicians in this, our affair."

President Baer, apprehending that he had gone too far, bowed to Odell
and said:

"Governor, I beg your pardon, no
personal affront was intended, and we will listen to any suggestion you may have to make; but again I repeat
that we must refuse to recognize the union as represented by Mr. Mitchell."

England's Postmaster General.
Joseph Austen Chamberlain, son of Joseph Chamberlain, colonial secretary, by getting a seat in the British cabinet furnishes the rare spectacle of a father and son holding cabinet rank

simultaneously. It is a precedent in English politics for father and son to be in the cabinet at the same time.
Young Chamberlain is but thirty-nine years of age. He was educated at Rugby and Trinity colleges at Cambridge. He is now postmaster general of Great Britain.

"I believe," said the governor, "that
your position from a public view is absolutely untenable. If coal operators,
railroad men and other business men
can combine for mutual profit and protection, there is no reason why laboring men should not."

"What is the proposition," said Mr.
Baer coldly.

"Just this," said Gov. Odell. "I am sure that the labor organization
of which Mr. Mitchell is the head desires him to be fair with the general public. If the operators will consent to give the men five cents a ton increase I will personally present it to the miners and I believe they will accept it. It is a fair proposition."

"Does this mean, Governor Odell,
that we are to recognize the miners'
union?" Mr. Baer asked.

"It certainly does," answered Governor Odell quickly; "and there is no reason why you should not."

Mr. Baer said:

"We are to meet a committee of the miners association on Tuesday
and we may have an answer there."

Governor Odell was not in a talka-
tive mood when he left the conference. He said:

"The coal operators may postpone
this matter until Tuesday, but I don't propose to postpone it. They are not acting fairly towards the people. I believe I shall find some remedy."

Governor Odell added:

"Mr. Mitchell was eminently fair
and showed every disposition to ad-
just the serious situation."

The conference between men in official circles and President Baer and Chairman Thomas was absolutely bar-ren of result.

There is nothing to justify the assertion that negotiations will be resumed Tuesday.

TO TRY ON MONDAY.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 11.—The operators will make another determined
effort to start up additional collieries
Monday, and in case the militia cannot furnish protection a number of operators will petition Governor
Stone as to the advisability of calling for Federal troops.

MR. GROW'S VIEWS.

New York, Oct. 11.—Congressman Galusha Grow of Pennsylvania, was at the Fifth Avenue this morning.
Referring to the coal strike conference he said that he did not believe that business and politics mixed very well.

MITCHELL AT WILKESBARRE.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 11.—John Mitchell, president of the Mine Workers, arrived at his headquarters here
from New York at 9:40 this morning.

ENGLISH COMMENT.

London, Oct. 11.—The Westminster
Gazette in an editorial on the anthracite strike in America today says:
"The claim of the capitalists that the miners' union is illegal sounds extremely primitive in a country which claims to be in the vanguard of modern progress."

TOWN

Inundated To Depth Of Ten Feet—Twenty Are Drowned.

Mexico City, Mex., Oct. 11.—Advices have been received of the almost complete destruction of the mining
town of Marfil, in the state of Guara-rate by a flood. The whole town was inundated to the depth of more than ten feet, washing away buildings and drowning more than 20 people.

FIVE DOLLARS

THAT WILL BE THE PRICE OF COAL MONDAY

Price Today Remains $4.50 But Dealers Are Notified of Increase in Cost.

The price of coal today remains $4.50 and some of the dealers have little of it even at that price.

One prominent dealer received word
today that an advance in price would be made by the operators on Monday
which means $5 coal here the same day.

Coal dealer C. M. Francis, stock

having been exhausted some one
about the office took an empty coal
bucket and labeling it "G. O. P." put the bucket on top of the canal bridge.
There was no full dinner pail attached
to the bucket either.

STRIKE

Situation at New Orleans Is Not as Yet Improved.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 11.—All negotiations looking toward a peaceable
settlement of the street railway strike
as carried on yesterday by Governor Heard came to a fruitless end this morning. The county militia has been ordered in to reinforce the city troops
and an attempt to run the cars will be made Monday.

SICK MAN

AROSE FROM BED AND RAN INTO THE FIELDS

Shortly After Being Taken Back Into House He Died—Frank Hart-
horn's Death.

Frank E. Hartshorn, a son of Mr.
and Mrs. M. D. Hartshorn, who lived on the old Granville road, half way
between Newark and Granville, died
at his home on Friday afternoon about
three o'clock of cerebro spinal fever,
aged about thirty-two years.

The deceased was taken sick on the Monday preceding his death. On Friday afternoon, Mr. Hartshorn got up and dressed, notwithstanding the pros-trates of his wife and mother, who were the only ones at home at the time, and went out on the farm. Mrs.
Hartshorn, realizing his condition,
ran out into the road and called for assistance. Two soldiers, who happened to be passing at the time, started in pursuit of the delirious man,
who seemed bent on not returning
home, and gave the soldiers a long chase. In his efforts to elude his pursuers he jumped several fences, but
at last fell exhausted to the ground,
when the soldiers took him in charge
and took him back to his home, but
the exposure and shock were too
much for him and he sank into a re-lapse and died about 3 o'clock on Friday afternoon.

The deceased, who leaves a widow
and one child to mourn his death, was a most excellent young man and was highly respected by all who knew him
and much sympathy will be felt for
the family and friends in their great bereavement.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late home on the Granville road, under the auspices of Cedar Camp, Mc-Corm Woodmen of America, and Rev.
C. L. Sparks, pastor of the First M.
E. church of this city will be the officiating minister. The interment will be made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

OHIO

Guard Complimented By Rogers

Who Attended Brigade Camps at Newark.

MAJOR THINKS THE GROUND HERE IS ALL RIGHT.

RESULT OF HIS OBSERVATIONS

Given in Report to War Department— Soldiers Ought to Be Better Equipped.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Major James
S. Rogers of the Twentieth United States infantry, who was detailed by
the war department to inspect the Ohio National Guard at the Newark
encampment last July and August, has submitted his report to the war department and while some criticisms
are made, the report on the whole, is highly complimentary to the Ohio soldiers and to the Newark camp grounds.

Major Rogers says that the drills
were creditable alike to the men and officers and all worked hard to obtain good results. Major Rogers says that according to Colonel Houck's estimate, the entire National Guard of Ohio could be concentrated in Columbus in six hours, in Cincinnati in 12 hours, in Cleveland in nine hours
and in Pittsburg in 18 hours, and that 65 per cent of the guard could be depended upon to respond for service
for a period of 60 days.

Major Rogers compliments Cavalry
Troop B, for its splendid march from Columbus to Newark, and Battery D,
of Toledo, for its marked progress in training horses and its proficiency in drill.

Among the defects he noticed at Newark, Major Rogers points out the following in his report:
"Most of the battalion, regimental
and brigade drills were in close order,
and too little attention was given to the extended order of formation. The Engineer battalion had one drill in extended order with blank cartridges.
In most cases too little attention was paid to interval distances in all the formations, and a number of the junior officers exhibited awkwardness in
carriage and handling of the sword.
The guard, as a rule, was very poor,
the officers of the guard not paying
the proper attention to the instruction of non-commissioned officers and sentinels. The reliefs were posted,
but the habitual visiting of the sentinels on post were more or less neglected. There were, however, some noticeable exceptions.

"It is to be regretted that the state
does not issue more than one uniform
and also a blue flannel shirt. In order to save their blue uniforms the men
were allowed to purchase and wear
khaki at the drills. This led in many cases to a mixture of uniform which looked odd, to say the least. The time of each brigade encampment—
eight days—is very short.

"In the case of the infantry I am
of the opinion that more attention
should be given to battalion drills in
earlier portions of the stay in camp,
as in most cases the majors rarely
get their companies together for battalion drill at home; and if a battalion is well drilled, the regiment drill comes easily. The armament of the guard for the most part can be improved. Only one battery is equipped with modern rifles, the three others
having brass-jacketed Gatlings, without caissons. Three are old and need extensive repairs. One infantry regiment is armed with Krag-Jorgensen rifles, some very old and in poor condition."

The war department authorities,
however, are much pleased with the report as a whole, as it shows that the Ohio National Guard is reaching
the very highest standard of efficiency, which is in line with the recent effort of the war department authorities to raise the National Guard to a higher standard of efficiency. Major Rogers, in a general survey of the Ohio Guard says in his report:
Most of the guard mounts at the beginning of the encampment were

rather ragged, but toward the close
a marked improvement was shown.
Some of the battalions were drilled in pitching shelter tents and became very proficient. The personnel of the guard is excellent. Many of the officers have had recent service either in the Spanish-American war or in the Philippines, while among the privates was found a member of the legislature and mayor of cities who had enlisted for the purpose of becoming thoroughly conversant with the duties
of a soldier. The discipline was good,
and there was a ready and cheerful
obedience of all orders from superior officers. The camp on both occasions was unusually quiet. No liquor was allowed in it and no ladies were allowed there after taps.

"That the state has many officers
who have had experience in the field
and are willing to devote the time and attention necessary to bringing the guard to an efficient, effective and well disciplined force is shown from
the fact of the almost total absence of the usual impediments carried into camps heretofore, and also by their honest endeavor to become used to the customs of the regular army under such circumstances.

The anxiety of the medical officers
and quartermaster's department to put the camp on the best sanitary basis and to remove anything which might tend to breed disease, and the very small sick reports as a result,
show that they have profited from lessons taught by experience in the field.

The intelligence and obedience of
enlisted men in abiding by their directions shows that the guard under the new organization will be a good one and an honor to the state. I witnessed the departure of the First brigade and also the arrival and departure of the Second, and there was no confusion in either case. The food supplied in the camp was ample and well cooked,
the camp was admirably located, and
the garbage collected daily and properly disposed of."

SERMONS

ON THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH BY MR. VAN FOSSEN

Splendid Sacred Music a Regular Feature—New Activities Begun At Trinity Church.

Sunday evening the Rev. G. W.
Van Fossen, rector of Trinity church
will deliver the first of a series of popular Sunday night sermons on the general subject, "The Episcopal Church." These sermons will continue for a while each Sunday evening,
and will treat of many points of interest in the organization, history,
doctrine and ceremonies of this venerable religious body. Tomorrow night
the thought will be directed to the relations of the Episcopal church to the Church of England. Everybody is invited to attend and hear the subject
presented from the point of view of the church itself. Strangers are welcomed and invited to sit where they

please, and prayer books and hym-
nals are provided so they can follow
the service if they prefer. The music
will be of the high order that is a regular feature of Trinity church, comprising the impressive choral rendering of the service, the majestic harmonies of King Hall's magnificent and Nuns Dimittis, the stirring procession-
al hymns, and the exquisite vesper
hymn sung kneeling after the benediction, composed by Sir Arthur Sullivan, adapted from a subject in Tennyson's "In Memoriam," of which the words are:

Lord, keep us safe this night,
Secure from all our fears;
May angels guard us while we sleep,
Till morning light appears.

Followed by the seven-fold amen.
The offertory anthem, "The Hallowed Presence," by Carter, is of peculiar interest from being an American choir prize anthem. Its solemn lines
are:

I feel Thy hallowed presence round
me falling;
My waking soul is filled with holy
power;
A new born light within me now is
glowing;

I turn to Thee in this redeeming
hour.
I ask not why my heart with peace
is filling;

I ask not why my soul with joy is
thrilling;
But this I know, my heart is Thine,
And now my soul is filled with joy
divine.

The darkness now is o're; Thy peace
serene and holy,
My soul shall fill with beauty
every-more.

My heavenly guiding star, I'll never
from Thee part.
Thou reignest in my heart, my Lord,
my King, my Saviour, Lord my King.

At the service of morning prayer,
commencing at 10:30 o'clock the musical program will be as usual including a new Te Deum, and the anthem, "Break Forth With Joy," by King. The sermon will be from the text, "Except a man be born of water and the Holy Ghost, he cannot see
the Kingdom of God." All are cordially welcomed at this service also.

Each Wednesday evening at 7:30
the rector is now giving an instruction
on the prayer book following the regular service, at which questions and comments are invited. The next one will present information not generally known even to churchmen concerning the contents of the prayer book of the year 1549, the first one in the English language. It will treat of numerous customs retained from ancient times in the formal ritual of the church and of others that are allowable with explanations of their meaning. This exposition should be of general interest, as well as of special concern to those preparing for confirmation by the bishop at his coming visitation in November.

It is certainly to the credit of Trinity parish that its sacred edifice is not merely a Sunday church, but is now
open all day long every week-day, for
all passers-by who would seek quiet
of a house of prayer; while a regular
service of praise and prayer is offered
every morning at nine o'clock, open
to all who may care to participate
or to sit and listen. When the day
is one marked in the church calendar
as a festival, the holy communion is administered at that hour.

At Jackson, Mich., this morning the west wall of the new hotel Otsego collapsed. Eight masons, four laborers
and Mayor Pickles, the contractor,
were on the fourth floor when the collapse came. Eight saved themselves,
but five men went down, four floors
to the ground. Four men are now at the city hospital, and one, Henry Giltner, is in the debris.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Price entertained at their cozy home on Sereneth
street, Friday evening in honor of the latter's birthday. Mrs. Price being the recipient of many useful and beautiful presents. An elegant four course dinner was served. The amusements
of the evening were music and cards.
The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Bash, and daughter, Mary and Miss Hattie Reese of Granville.

American schooner Otello Pedersen
is lost.

Mrs. S. P. Tresize is the guest of
Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Spencer.

Who Dynamited Express And Baggage Car.

POSSE FROM LINCOLN, NOW ON THEIR TRAIL.

A LEXINGTON MAN IS KILLED

And His Son Fatally Injured by Burg- lars Who Entered Their Home At Midnight.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 11.—Three masked robbers held up the Burlington
passenger train No. 41 five miles out of Lincoln this morning. The robbers dynamited the combination express and baggage car, blew open the safe and rifled its contents, and made their escape. A posse from Lincoln is now on their trail. The train was flagged the engineer and fireman compelled to accompany the robbers to the express car. The robbers overpowered Messenger Lupton, without injury to him. They attached a dynamite fuse to the safe and blew it open
wrecking the car.

The robbers placed the plunder
which the Adams Express officials say amounted to $1,500 in a sack and entered two criages. The robbers
stole a rig at 10 o'clock this morning
and were then just an hour ahead of the posse.

ROBBERS COMMIT MURDER.
Lexington, Ky., Oct. 11.—A. B.
Chinn, a prominent merchant, was murdered and Asa his son was fatally shot by masked burglars this morning. The burglars demanded money,
and Chinn told them to search the place. The young man opened fire
which they returned, instantly killing
the father and wounding Asa.

Gentlemen who claim credit for prosperity should be equally ready to assume responsibility for adversity. If the crops grow because the Republican party is in power, less agreeable facts must be traced to the same door—Columbus Citizen.

If the Republican party can rightfully claim credit and glory for conditions that have produced prosperity for the trusts, that party must "stand pat" on the woes and evils that these same trusts have forced upon a suffering people. "Stand pat" is the Mark Hanna slogan to "let well enough alone" so as to keep but one party in power, and that party should not be allowed to flinch or dodge responsibility for the trust evils which its own policy and its own party leaders have brought upon the country.

If the money question is settled, and there is all the circulating medium needed in this country, why all this talk about a scarcity of money, a money stringency, which the secretary of the treasury has had to relieve by loaning out money from the treasury, and a shortage in the bank reserve of the country?

"Stand pat" and "let well enough alone" is the Mark Hanna slogan to lash the voters into line. Certainly "let well enough alone." The coal trust, the beef trust, the steel trust and all the other trusts are "well enough" and all the voters have to do is to obey Mark's command to "stand pat" and let them "alone" by voting to keep the party of the trusts in power.

Columbus Citizen: "Democrats who suggest a remedy for monopoly are called anarchists. Republicans who admit the evil but have no remedy to apply are called statesmen."

Why the Republican Bosses are Scared.

The fight between the steel trust and labor unionism last year was precisely the same in principle as the contest between the coal trust and labor unionism now. The steel trust was the victor, the labor union was crushed, and Mark Hanna said then as now, "let well enough alone." The coal trust is no worse than the steel trust, but the people are out of coal, the price has gone skyward and cold winter is coming on. Consequently voters by thousands are revolting against trust rule, and are refusing to "stand pat" and "let well enough alone" any longer. They propose to disobey Mark and other bosses this time by smashing the trusts at the ballot box. Hence this terrible fright of Republican leaders—this is why they are trembling in their boots.

It is remarkable how great is the difference of opinion as to a great question of public policy among statesmen of the same political party. Thus while Chairman Lemuel Eli Quigg in the Republican state convention of New York declared that the tariff and the trust question were so thoroughly welded together that they could no longer be separated and must constitute one issue, President Roosevelt declared on the same day that the tariff and the trusts have no logical relation with each other.

"Stand pat," keep the party of the trusts in power and "let well enough alone." This is Mark Hanna's slogan but the people are revolting. They are out of coal and are also out for smashing the trusts at the ballot box. They are only waiting for election day.

Gov. Odell of New York, is the only Republican politician or official who has had the nerve to tell the coal trust operators that they ought to settle the strike by recognizing the miners' union. Odell meets the issue squarely and he is the only member of his party that has done so up to date.

Is coal too high? If so, "STAND PAT" and vote to keep the party of the trusts in power. When you do that you will "LET WELL ENOUGH ALONE" and obey Mark Hanna implicitly.

The empty coal bucket has taken the place of the full dinner pail. But nevertheless Mark Hanna commands you to "stand pat" and "let well enough alone."

The people who are out of coal refuse to "stand pat" for trusts any longer. They do not think that trusts are "well enough" and do not think trusts should be "let alone."

The coal trust is still putting prices up. But which one of the trusts is putting prices down? Are not all trusts alike when they get things fixed for raising prices?

The coal trust is not the only "bad" one. The meat trust has been doing business in the line of raising prices on consumers for some time.

The beef trust has been lowering the full dinner pail for several months, and now the coal trust has produced a bucket that is entirely empty.

Treat All Lawbreakers Alike.
(Springfield, Mass. Republican, Ind.)

The hand of public authority should be applied heavily against all riotous strikers. And next let it fall with equal force upon the railroad coal corporations, whose law-breaking, while of a more polite and elegant kind, is none the less reprehensible. They are breaking state law in adding the business of coal-mining to that of common carrier. They are breaking federal law in combining to regulate output and prices. And they are violating the interstate commerce law in charging unreasonable prices for the carriage of coal. Let the lawless corporations be suppressed equally with the lawless strikers. And beyond all this is the necessity of action to prevent a recurrence of like disaster.

The most valuable by-product on the farm is the skim milk.

BIGELOW AND BAKER

Will Speak in Newark on Monday Evening, October 20.

These two Democratic orators will address the people in Newark on Monday evening, October 20. The Rev. Mr. Bigelow is the Democratic candidate for Secretary of State, and Hon. Charles Baker is one of the ablest speakers in Ohio. They deserve a crowded house when they come, for what they say will greatly interest the people in these times of trust greed and trust rule. Our people should see that the occasion is made a political gathering of far-reaching effect.

WOMEN WARRIORS.

Many Have Fought Bravely—Exemplars of a Queen.
The muster rolls of the civil war show a number of cases of soldiers who were discovered to be women. One of the most remarkable women was Christiana Cavenagh, who lived in England in the nineteenth century. She was married and had three children. Her husband was carried off to Holland, where he had to enlist as a private soldier. His wife dressed as a man and enlisted so as to be near her husband. She was wounded at the battle of Landen, made a prisoner by the French and carried to St. Germain-en-Laye, where she remained until she was exchanged. Then she quarreled and fought a duel with her sergeant and was transferred to another regiment. Again she was wounded at Ramillies, when her secret was discovered. She was, however, permitted to remain with the regiment as a cook. Many English officers recall the case of "Dr. James Barry." This woman served in the British army about fifty years ago as a surgeon at the Cape, at Malta and at Barbados. At the Cape "he" fought a duel with an officer who had called "him" a woman. Mrs. Lindley, the wife of a soldier, went through some of the sharpest engagements of the civil war. She enlisted in Company D, Sixth Ohio cavalry, and fought at Fort Magruder, Hanover Court House, Bull Run, Antietam and Boonsboro. She is said to be still living and the mother of several children.

Christina, queen of Sweden, was educated and dressed like a boy from her birth because her father was disappointed at not having a son. She was more a king than a queen and after four years of rule resigned her crown and went off to amuse herself in Europe. She was dressed in men's clothes and acted as uproariously as any man who ever owned his clothes by right of sex. She was only twenty-eight at the time.—Savannah News.

"It was this way," was explaining a quite fresh and young appearing gentleman to a much older companion as they sat near them in the restaurant. ANIMAL ODDITIES.

It is said that the frigate bird can fly an entire week without stopping to rest.

Some of the cats in Liberia are of a bright red tint, and they are very conspicuous in the moonlight.

The cry of a young seal when wounded or about to be attacked resembles that of a child in distress, and tears flow from its eyes.

The common herring is the most difficult of all marine creatures to catch alive for an aquarium. A whale is the most difficult to preserve alive.

Cranes, storks and wild geese fly fast enough to make the trip from northern Europe to Africa in a week, but most of them rest worth of the Mediterranean.

A fox is dainty as well as crafty and prefers the tongues of lambs for food. He has been seen to chase sheep until they, on becoming tired, hung out their tongues, which he then tears off and eats.

A caterpillar cannot see more than a centimeter ahead—that is to say, less than two-fifths of an inch. The hairs on the body are said to be of as much use as its eyes in letting it know what is going on around.

A Wise Answer.

The shah once asked a group of courtiers whom they thought the greater man—himself or his father. At first he could get no reply to so dangerous a question, the answer to which might cost the courtiers their heads. At last a witty old eunuch said, "Your father, sire, for, though you are equal to your father in all other respects, in this he is superior to you—that he had a great grandson than any you have."

Of the Platform Adopted at the Democratic State Convention.

In state convention assembled, we, the Democrats of Ohio, hereby acknowledge and declare our continued allegiance to the Democratic party of the nation and on national issues reaffirm and endorse the principles laid down in its last national platform adopted at Kansas City, and which was fully and ably represented in the presidential campaign of 1900 by William Jennings Bryan. Regarding those principles as opposed to imperialism and colonialism, as opposed to government by injunction, as opposed to trusts and trust-fostering tariffs, as opposed to financial monopoly and as opposed to all other legalized monopolies and privileges, we condemn every effort to repudiate or ignore them.

In state and municipal affairs we pledge our party to a faithful application of those Democratic principles, to the end that the burdens of taxation may be equalized and home rule and local self-government be established and preserved.

REPUBLICANS ARRANGED.

Under the long continued control of the Republican party in this state, monopoly has been fostered and protected; the farmer and the small home owners have been burdened with excessive taxes that the beneficiaries and favorites of that party might be permitted to escape their just share of the public burdens; our public institutions have been wastefully and inefficiently managed and in them scandalous and cruel wrongs have been practiced upon the defenseless wards of the state; the farmers and small shippers continue to suffer from unjust discrimination at the hands of unregulated monopoly; the fine system of municipal government has been wrecked and the credit of cities destroyed, thereby producing a spirit of insecurity and unrest in all public affairs. The people can no longer trust the administration of their affairs to a party thus recklessly devoted to interests adverse to the public welfare. As a more specific statement of our principles upon these and other public questions we declare:

TAXABLE PROPERTY.

1. That all taxable property should be appraised by assessing boards which should be in session for at least a part of each year and whose proceedings and deliberations should be open to the public; that power be given to employ a representative to present the interests of the public in hearings before these boards and that in making assessments all property should be appraised at not less than its saleable value.

2. That the present laws for assessing the property of steam railroads and other public service corporations should be so changed as to compel the assessment of those properties at not less than their saleable value as going concerns and to prevent their evasion of just taxation.

CLASSIFICATION.

3. That to prevent evasion of state taxes by discriminating valuations, a separation of the sources of state and local revenues should be made. And to that end, we heartily endorse the constitutional amendment now pending before the people and to be voted on next year, which will permit classifications of taxable property.

4. That all public service corporations should be required by law to make sworn public reports and that the power of visitation and examination over such corporations should be given to the proper auditing officers to the end that the true value of the privileges had by such corporations may be made plain to the people.

FREE PASSES.

5. That the acceptance of free passes or other favors from railroads by public officers or employees should be adequate ground for their removal from office.

6. That the denial of the right of free speech and peaceable persuasion

Covers were laid for fourteen and after the repast a delightful afternoon was spent. Miss Freda Pfeffer charmingly tendered several vocal selections, Miss May Cline presiding at the piano. Those invited were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Debold, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Abbott, Mrs. Kate Cline, Mrs. Roman Clem, Mrs. G. Brady, Mrs. A. Meister, Miss Sadie Torrence, Miss Freda Pfeffer, Miss May Cline, Miss Mary Adam and Messrs. Charles Cline and John Cline.

The members of the Fortnightly club of Granville, met with Mrs. Minnie Buxton Kerr, on Tuesday evening, Sept. 30th. The guests of the club were: Mrs. McDaniel of Atton, Ia., Mrs. Mayor Williams, Mrs. Colwell, Miss Henry of Newark, and Miss Ella Howe. Roll call was responded to by quotations from Owen Meredith, Miss Howler read a carefully prepared paper on, "The Prime Minister and his Relation to the Government." The facts brought out by this paper were eye-openers to the methods of English Government. This point was made; viz., that the King is a mere figure-head, and his Prime Minister holds the balance of power. Mrs. Nichols followed with a paper full of information on "Election Methods in England." At the conclusion of the program, a rare musical treat was enjoyed. Mrs. McDaniel who is a guest of Mrs. Kerr, very kindly consented to give three vocal selections. Her clear, sweet tones and distinct enunciation delighted all, who were so fortunate as to hear her. Dainty refreshments were then served by the hostess after which the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Austin, Tuesday evening, Oct. 14th.

A new society has been organized by Christian ladies, the first meeting being held on Friday evening in the Parrish House of Trinity church. The meetings are called "Mother's Meetings," and the program to be carried out is first, devotional exercises, then a period of sewing, instruction being given when needed. The first garments made are gingham aprons, which will be sold, the proceeds to be used for worthy charities. An important feature will be the birthday box. The usual order will be reversed, and instead of the members putting money into the box on birthdays, the box will be opened, and each member will be presented with a gift on her birthday, and some extra entertainment will be given. Also there will be readings each evening from some entertaining book, and informal talks on domestic economy. Refreshments are always served. There were twelve present at the first meeting. The society is non-denominational, and it is hoped that there will be a large membership.

On Monday evening, commencing at 7:30, the Monday Talks invites their sister clubs of the city to hear a lecture to be given by Prof. Colwell of Granville in the First Presbyterian church. The club members are also invited to bring their friends. The following is the program for the evening lecture:

A most delightful affair was the luncheon given by Mrs. Ed. Doe, on Friday at one o'clock, at her home on Church street. The luncheon was served in eight courses, and the table was beautifully decorated. A silver candle stick holding a yellow candle with yellow shade stood at each corner, and in the center was a large bunch of yellow roses. A yellow rose was also at each plate. On the reverse side of the place cards were written quotations, the guessing of which afforded much entertainment. During the serving of the coffee white chewing gum was passed with a card telling what animal was to be moulded from the wax. These animals of the sculptor's skill were most wonderfully made. Mrs. Ferd Crane was awarded the prize for making the best model. Mrs. Miller gave pleasure by singing several songs. The guests were Mrs. Ferd Crane, Mrs. Omar Crane, Mrs. Joan Tucker, Mrs. Kate Roe, Mrs. C. W. Miller, Mrs. Geo. Webb, Mrs. Marvelton Moore, Mrs. Helen Franklin and Mrs. Pitser.

The following invitations are out:

The members of the club are Misses Mary Webb, Lulu Starr, Lulu May Barrick, Hazel Thomas and Elsie Hersberg. The guests of the club were Miss Johnson of Columbus, Messrs. Hersberg, Hartshorn, Armstrong, Shields, Sheppard and Birch.

The Tuesday afternoon eucher club was entertained this week by Mrs. Frank Bartholemew at the home of her mother, Mrs. Goldsborough. The prize for the most progressions was won by Mrs. Dennis, Mrs. Addison Dickinson won the prize for lone hands, and the visitor's prize was awarded to Mrs. A. H. Pierson. The guests of the club were Mrs. Theo. Wilson, Mrs. Dr. Speer, Mrs. Woods, Mrs. A. H. Pierson, Miss Dennis, Miss Stanberry, Miss Jokes and Miss Lisle.

AN OLD FAVORITE

BEN BOLT

By Thomas Dunn English

THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH was born in Philadelphia June 29, 1823, and died a few months ago at Newark, N. J. He was a graduate of the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania, but he practiced only a few years, changing to the law. He was admitted to the bar in 1842. He later practiced medicine in Newark, but served in congress from 1851 to 1855. Although Dr. English is best known as the author of "Ben Bolt," it is said that he himself preferred some of his other poems.

DON'T you remember sweet Alice, Ben Bolt—
Sweet Alice whose hair was so brown,
Who wept with delight when you gave her a smile,
And trembled with fear at your frown?
In the old church-yard in the valley, Ben Bolt,
In a corner obscure and alone,
They have fitted a slab of the granite so gray,
And Alice lies under the stone.

Under the hickory tree, Ben Bolt,
Which stood at the foot of the hill,
Together we've lain in the noontide shade,
And listened to Appleton's mill.
The mill-wheel has fallen to pieces, Ben Bolt,
The rafters have tumbled in,
And a quiet which crawls round the walls as you gaze
Has followed the olden din.

Do you mind of the cabin of logs, Ben Bolt,
At the edge of the pathless wood,
And the button-ball tree with its motley limbs,
Which high by the doorstep stood?
The cabin to ruin has gone, Ben Bolt,
The tree you would seek for in vain;
And where once the lords of the forest waved
Are grass and the golden grain.

And don't you remember the school, Ben Bolt,
With the master so cruel and grim,
And the shaded nook in the running brook
Where the children went to swim?
Grass grows on the master's grave, Ben Bolt,
The spring of the brook is dry,
And of all the boys who were schoolmates then
There are only you and I.

There is change in the things I loved, Ben Bolt,
They have changed from the old to the new;
But I feel in the depths of my spirit the truth,
There never was change in you.
Twelvemonths twenty have passed, Ben Bolt,
Since first we were friends—yet I hail
Your presence a blessing, your friendship a truth,
Ben Bolt of the salt-sea gale.

Ben Hur.

The regular meeting of Alpha Court, No. 51, Tribe of Ben Hur, was held on Thursday evening with a good attendance of the members. Nothing of importance, however, was transacted except routine business. The next meeting of the Court will be held one week from next Thursday evening, when it is hoped that there will be a large attendance.

Newark Home, No. 33, is enjoying a season of great prosperity. At every meeting new members are taken into the fold. At the next meeting of the Home there will be a large class for initiation, when some of the best business men of the city will be added to the membership. Although Newark Home has always been blessed with good attendance the approach of cool weather shows a decided improvement along this line. At the meeting on Thursday evening it was arranged to hold a Box social and entertainment in the near future, and judging by the personnel of the committee, it will be a "hummer," for Sisters Young, Bradley and Ford, say there is no such word as failure in their vocabulary. All members were sorry to learn that Brother Murry Connolly was on the sick list.

ABILITY COUNTS.

The British Medical Institute crowded—many rejoicing—many references—Their tremendous success is due to their skill and experience.

The success and permanency of the British Medical Institute is an assured fact. It is now almost a year since its branch office was established in this city, at 100 W. Main street, Flat 2, Avalon Flats, and since that time, many specialists have come and gone, but the British Doctors have shown their ability to establish a permanent and lucrative business. They expect, in the near future, to erect a sanitarium to accommodate the many patients who come from a distance.

Their new and up-to-date methods of treating chronic diseases have enabled them to cure hundreds of cases where all others have failed. Their new and painless method of curing piles and other rectal diseases has gained for them an enviable reputation in curing these afflictions.

They treat all forms of chronic disease, including male and female weakness, catarrh and catarrhal deafness, varicose, rupture, goitre, cancer, asthma, sterility, blood and skin diseases, and the drug habits. Locomotor ataxia, catarrh of the eye, Bright's disease of the kidneys, heart and lung troubles. If you are afflicted with any so-called incurable disease, you should see them as they make no charge for consultation or examination, and the cost of treatment is within the reach of all. Those who are too poor to pay, will be treated free of charge on Tuesdays of each week.

NATURAL GAS

DEEP HOLE AT KECKLEY WELL ABANDONED

As Tools Can't Be Removed—New Gas Company—Notes About Licking County Gas Field.

(Utica Herald.)

Contractor Hagerson has met with one of the misfortunes which make his business a risky one in spite of the big profits when everything goes smoothly. He has been obliged to abandon the Keckley well after having drilled about 2,000 feet, and with it he loses tools worth several hundreds of dollars.

One day about a month ago the cable broke when the tools were some 400 feet from the bottom, and the mass of nearly a ton of steel dropped with such force as to jam itself solidly into the rock. The fragment of cable attached to it made the job of grappling a difficult one, and two weeks hard work were required to get the rope out so that the steam could be reached. Another week was spent in trying to get the tools loose and finally the task was abandoned. Another hole is being started a short distance from the first.

The derrick on the Vance lot at the west end of the Utica bridge has been ready several weeks awaiting the tools that are buried part way to China. It will have to await another string.

Contractor Stratton will get the drill started at the first Forbing well on the Culp farm six miles northeast of here, this week. If that well comes in good for either gas or oil it will be worth tens of thousands of dollars to the farm owners east, north and north-east of Utica, and put them at par with those west, southwest and northwest.

The Northern Ohio Natural Gas and Pipe Line company of Cleveland, capital stock $100,000, was incorporated last Wednesday to deal in natural and artificial gas and deliver it in pipe lines from near Utica, in Licking Co., through the counties of Knox, Richland, Ashland, Lorain, Erie, Huron. Among the cities to be supplied are named Ashland, Wellington, Oberlin, Elyria, Lorain, Sandusky and Norwalk. The incorporators are Norton T. Horr, A. R. Horr, C. L. Denton, Fred W. Fuller and H. L. Blackwell.

FLAG LANGUAGE.

The black flag is a sign of piracy. To "strike the flag" is to lower the colors in submission.

Dipping the flag is lowering it slightly and hoisting it again to salute a vessel or fort.

The yellow flag shows a vessel to be in quarantine or is a sign of a contagious disease.

A "flag of truce" is a white flag displayed to an enemy to indicate a desire for parley or consultation.

The red flag in our service is a mark of danger and shows a vessel to be receiving or discharging her powder.

A flag at half mast means mourning. Fishing and other vessels return with the flag at half mast to announce the loss or death of some of their crew.

Flags are used as the symbol of rank and command, the officers using them being called "flag officers." Such flags are square to distinguish them from other banners.

The white flag is a sign of peace. After a battle parties from both sides often go out to the field to rescue the wounded or bury the dead under the protection of the white flag.

If the president of the United States goes aboard, the American flag is carried in the bow of his barge or hoisted at the mast of the vessel on board of which he is.—New Education.

Didn't Want Too Much. A Lone Star State man tells the following story of a negro baptizing in Texas:

An old negro preacher did the honors, and the candidate for baptism was a coal black negro woman. The preacher led his victim far out into the stream, where she could be thoroughly immersed, and at the auspicious moment he cried in a loud voice:

"Be stiddy, sister, be stiddy, and you'll cum up whitish den snow!" "Oh, parson," she exclaimed, "dat's askin' too much; a cream colour'll do!"—New York Times.

FUN FOR THE VETERANS.

Incidents of the Grand Army Encampment at Washington.

One incident of the naval parade, which was one of the features of the second day's encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic in Washington, was the breaking away of an entire company of naval veterans during the march along Pennsylvania avenue, says the New York Herald. Arriving at Jackson place, some one said to the leader:

"There's the new White House." "President there?" he quickly asked.

"You bet," was the reply. The company was led double quick time up past 22 Jackson place, where vigorous cheers were given.

The president, however, was lying on his couch at the time and was not permitted to go to the window, much to the disappointment of the veterans.

Another break away from the line, both humorous and significant, occurred when a Pennsylvania band played a small pile of anthracite coal by the side of the street. The whole band immediately surrounded the coal and played the most dismal dirge. Then, forming in line, they marched away again, playing "The Girl I Left Behind Me."

A picturesque incident occurred during the march of Fairbanks post of Detroit to its headquarters. The only music by which the veterans kept step up the avenue was a bass drum and snare drum. Quickly appreciating the situation, three little negro boys jumped in at the head of the procession, whistling "Marching Through Georgia" as the drums kept time. Other colored boys quickly fell in, and before the post reached the hotel more than 100 pickaninnies had joined the vanguard, all whistling the stirring war song. The scene was cheered all along the line.

DISGUISE FOR ARTILLERY.

Successful Color Experiment Conducted at Aldershot, England.

A novel artillery experiment has just taken place at Aldershot, says a London cable despatch to the Chicago Inter Ocean. By an ingenious method of painting the guns and limbers three primary colors—red, blue and yellow—they have been found to harmonize with any sort of ground or background so admirably that at a short distance they are difficult to locate.

Six guns so painted were placed on Fox hills, and the artillery officers at Aldershot were invited to try and locate them with fieldglasses at a distance of about 3,000 yards. Although all the officers knew the direction in which the guns lay, not one was able to point all of them out. Some horse artillery that was sent forward to engage the guns advanced within 1,000 yards before they located them. At close quarters the guns appear to be all daisies and streaks.

Bowling to Boom.

Bowling is to boom this winter in New York, says a correspondent of the Pittsburgh Dispatch. Experts say that alley accommodations are 10 per cent over and that a number of new clubs, totaling a total of about 200, will be in the game. The game is finding much favor with women this year. Their invasion of the alleys was not retarded with much later at the outset, and it was not thought that the ladies' team would be lasting, but the reverse has obtained.

Surprise Party Given Mrs. Kerr by 25 Friends Friday Night—Personal News Items.

Granville, O., Oct. 11—Mrs. Minnie Kerr was the recipient of a delightful surprise from about twenty-five of her friends who came in on her at her home at the Buxton house, on Friday night without having given her previous notice of their intentions. Although Mrs. Kerr was greatly surprised she soon recovered from the shock, and devoted herself assiduously to the entertainment of her self invited guests, and a very pleasant evening was had. The enjoyments of the occasion were seasoned with a splendid supper provided from the well filled baskets of those who were in the party. At a late hour all left for their respective homes, having had a most enjoyable time.

The Royal Month and the Royal Disease.

Sudden changes of weather are especially trying, and probably to none more so than to the scrofulous and consumptive. The progress of scrofula during a normal October is commonly great. We never think of scrofula—its bubbles, cutaneous eruptions, and wasting of the body—without thinking of the great good many sufferers from it have derived from Hood's Sarsaparilla, a radical and permanent cure of this one disease are enough to make it the most famous medicine in the world. There is no doubt a city or town where Hood's Sarsaparilla has not proved its worth in more homes than ever, in arresting and completely eradicating scrofula which is almost as serious an ailment to be feared as its near relative—consumption.

HALF OUR ILLS ARE CATARRHAL IN NATURE!

Catarrhal Diseases are Most Prevalent in Winter.

IS THERE NO WAY OF ESCAPE FROM THEM?

Pe-ru-na Never Fails to Cure Catarrh Wherever Located.

There are some things which are as sure as fate, and can be relied on to occur to at least one-half of the human family unless means are taken to prevent.

First, the climate of winter is sure to bring colds.

Second, colds not promptly cured are sure to cause catarrh.

Third, catarrh improperly treated is sure to make life short and miserable.

Catarrh spares no organ or function of the body. It is capable of destroying sight, taste, smell, hearing, digestion, secretion, assimilation and excretion.

It pervades every part of the human body, head, throat, stomach, bowels, bronchial tubes, lungs, liver, kidneys, bladder and other pelvic organs.

That Peruna cures catarrh wherever located is attested by the following testimonials sent entirely unsolicited to Dr. Hartman by grateful men and women who have been cured by Peruna:

Catarrh of The Head. Mr. D. R. Ramsey writes in a recent letter from Pine Bluff, Ark., the following:

"My son, Leon Ramsey, four years of age, suffered with catarrh of the head for eighteen or twenty months. He took one bottle of your Peruna and could hear as good as ever."—D. R. RAMSEY.

Catarrh of The Nose. Mr. Herman Ehlike, 952 Orchard street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

"I am entirely cured of my catarrh of the nose by your Peruna. My case was a severe one."—HERMAN EHLIKE.

Catarrh of The Throat. B. H. Runyan, Salesville, O., writes:

"I suffered with catarrh of the throat for five years. I was induced to try Peruna. I have used five bottles and am perfectly well."—B. H. RUNYAN.

Catarrh of The Ear. Mr. Archie Godin, 138 Beech street, Pittsburg, Mass., writes:

"Peruna has cured me of catarrh of the middle ear. I feel better than I have for several years."—ARCHIE GODIN.

Catarrh of The Bladder. Mr. John Smith, 311 S. Third street, Atchison, Kan., writes:

Catarrh of The Bowels. Mr. Henry Entzion, South Bend, Ind., writes:

Pelvic Catarrh. Miss Katie Lochman, Lafayette, Ind., writes:

"I had pelvic catarrh, pain in the abdomen, back, had stomach trouble and headache caused by catarrh. I followed your directions; took Peruna and Manalin according to directions, and how happy I feel that I am relieved of such a distressing ailment!"—MISS KATIE LOCHMAN.

MISS VIRGINIA GRANES

Graduate Nurse, and President of Nurses' Association of Watertown, N.Y.,

Tells How Much Doctors Use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Has Yet To Hear of Its Failure To Cure.

It is not infrequent that information comes to our attention proving that the medical profession in general prescribe large quantities of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in their private practice.

It is a fact beyond dispute that nowhere is to be found a remedy so universally successful in curing female ills, and the broad-minded physician of to-day is quick to recognize his duty to his patient, and does not hesitate to prescribe the best medicine he can find—the medicine that is surest and the quickest to bring relief to his patient. For this very reason thousands of the very best physicians are prescribing in their treatment of female ills Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, while not in the original bottles perhaps, but in plain prescription bottles with their own or druggists' name.

It is our pleasure and our privilege to publish a letter from a graduate nurse whose reputation and prominence in her profession lends much weight to her opinions, and whose testimony goes to prove our statements in regard to the high esteem in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is held by our leading physicians and trained nurses.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Twelve years continuous service at the sick beds in some of our prominent hospitals, as well as at private homes, has given me varied experiences with the diseases of women. I have nursed some most distressing cases of inflammation and ulceration of the ovaries and womb. I have known that doctors used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when everything else failed with their patients. I have advised my patients and friends to use it, and have yet to hear of its first failure to cure.

"Four years ago I had falling of the womb from straining in lifting a heavy patient, and knowing of the value of your Compound I began to use it at once, and in six weeks I was well once more, and have had no trouble since. I am most pleased to have had an opportunity to say a few words in praise of your Vegetable Compound, and shall take every occasion to recommend it."—Miss VIRGINIA GRANES, 444 So. Spring St., Los Angeles, Cal. [Present address.]

Be it, therefore, believed by all women who are ill that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine they should take. It has stood the test of time, and it has hundreds of thousands of cures to its credit. It should, therefore, be considered unwise to experiment further.

Mrs. Pinkham, whose address is Lynn, Mass., will answer cheerfully and without cost all letters addressed to her by sick women.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of New York, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letter is not genuine, or was published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

New Idea in Fur Coats.

Automobile has been responsible for many curious ideas in the way of coats, but I have seen one which is a unique example of the furrier's art. writes the London correspondent of the New York Herald. From collar to tail it is made entirely of bare's ears, cunningly joined together. Twelve hundred bars were killed to produce this astonishing garment, which took three months to manufacture, one man being employed three days in cutting the ears from the skins. It has been specially treated to render it waterproof. Considering the immense amount of labor spent on it, it seems cheap at the price, $100, which is asked for it.

Station For Signal Corps of Army.

Upon the crest of the Blue Ridge mountains, within sixty miles of Washington, the war department has purchased sixty acres of land and will erect at once the construction of a building that will be used as a station for the signal corps of the army, says the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Record-Herald. It will be fully equipped and will be used for the higher and more important of the officers as well as to teach the rudiments to enlisted men. The location is considered excellent, because the altitude commands a wide field in which practical lessons will be given.

MR. RYDER IS WRONG. In the game between North and East High schools last Tuesday a play was made on which the result of the game depended, and on which the referee made a mistake in his decision. The play was as follows:

North had the ball on East's 5-yard line. In an attempt to advance, North fumbled, and the ball was picked up by an East man, who was pushed over the goal line by North in the scrimmage. The referee, Francis of O. M. U., decided the play as a touchdown for North, evidently overlooking the fact that the ball was in Newark friends. ## Mr. Peter Berry of Pearl St., Augusta, Me., was a Very Sick Man.

Physicians were baffled over his case. But he took "Blood Wine" and was cured. Read what he says:

"A very hard cold settled on my lungs, causing a most obstinate cough that no medicine given me would relieve. During many months I suffered untold misery, my lung trouble growing worse. My physician was baffled and finally told me I would have to go to a warmer climate. I saw 'Blood Wine' advertised and decided to try it. After taking it regularly I was greatly pleased with its results and am now well. My astounding recovery was a surprise to my physician. Those whom I have since advised to use it, believe with me that it is the greatest medicine in the world."

Remarkable cures seem invariably to be the result of taking "Blood Wine," not only for Coughs, Colds, and Sore Throats, but in cases of pronounced Consumption it has killed the germs, toned up the system, put flesh on bones that almost protruded from the skin, and made sufferers of a lifetime well, hearty and happy. ## Running the St. Lawrence Rapids

[Special Correspondence.]

New York, Oct. 6.—After Niagara the St. Lawrence rapids lose something of their glamour in spite of the highly colored descriptions of the steamer folders describing their danger. They are not to be spoken of in slighting terms for all that, and no one need forego the journey down them for fear of meeting with a disappointment.

Running a rapid in a steamer has elements of novelty and danger that even the most experienced canoeist may find not without excitement, and the St. Lawrence river from Prescott to Montreal affords a succession of rapids that are delightfully cumulative in their interest.

Just below Coteau is the first one, very tame comparatively, but with a pleasant suggestion of what is to follow.

The river is a mighty stream all the way down, now spreading out into lakelike width, then crowding its mass of water into a few hundred yards, all the time conveying an ever increasing impression of power.

The first rapid that at all realizes expectations is the Long Sault. Even before the water begins to break into whitecaps you are conscious that the boat is in the pull of an irresistible current. On all sides the water is racing along, boiling and creating dangerous looking whirlpools that mean death to the strongest swimmer. Along the shores the water is running back up stream in a surprising way in whirling eddies that give an added impression of speed to the boat's rush toward the heaving waters ahead.

In the pilot house are two clear eyed, steady nerved French Canadians, with a firm grip on the wheel, waiting for just the precise moment to give it the turn that means safety. On deck in front of the pilot house, with a hand on the lever that controls the engine, is one of the boat's officers. It is an everyday affair to these men, and yet there is always an element of danger, a reason for absolute judgment and perfect control.

As the boat enters the rapids great waves come roaring and curling toward you, and the turmoil is like the sea after a heavy gale; only the swells are not in order, but dash here and there in all directions. The steam is shut off, and the boat goes leaping and staggering down bill with the impulse of the boiling waters.

The nine miles take but a few minutes, and then comes a long stretch of quiet water.

The Split Rock rapids, where from the deck you can see just beneath the surface the great rock that has to be avoided, and the Cascades, with their difficult curving course, are short, but exhilarating. The latter is perhaps the most dangerous on the river, for the boat has to make quick, short turns, and the helmsmen must calculate to a nicety the varying conditions of water and counter currents.

Just before reaching Montreal and within sight of the Indian village of Caughnawaga you run the last and most famed of all these wonderful rapids. The Lachine rapid is certainly no anticlimax. It has earned its name justly as a thriller. From the time you enter it until you glide into smooth water again under the great bridge below there is not a moment of peace. It is a mad rush of seething water running in every direction with a dizzy, whirling motion. The boat jumps and slides along, now and then slipping over a ledge and dropping down as if she were on her way to the bottom. It doesn't last long, but you certainly get four maver's worth.

In the old days the boats used to have an Indian pilot as a stage property, but the hardy habitants that now take her down the river are quite satisfactory. That the trip is not a dangerous one is evidenced by the fact that no boat has ever lost a passenger. But the element of safety lies in the skill of the men at the wheel and in the engine. If anything should break, the steering gear or the engine fail to respond just at the right moment, something would happen beyond a doubt.

It is said that the Indians run these rapids in canoes, but I cannot imagine any description of small boat getting through them. The waves are too much for anything less than a white boat, and this would need bailing to keep her afloat. From its source in the great lakes the St. Lawrence grows in majesty until it reaches the Atlantic. It is one of the greatest rivers of the world, and beyond Quebec it is navigable by the greatest vessels.

It is Mr. Howells who has written the most entertaining histories of the St. Lawrence and the cities of Montreal and Quebec. His two books, "Their Wedding Journey" and "A Chance Acquaintance," may always be ranked among the leading sellers in Canada. Every river steamer carries a supply of the attractive little paper editions printed in Scotland, from which I hope the author gets something in the way of royalty. Certainly the transportation companies that control the boats in the St. Lawrence could well afford to pay Mr. Howells a handsome commission on account of advertising. They are delightful books and admirably supplement the learned and more formal historians who have found Canada such a rich field.

TOPOGRAPHIC ODDITIES.

Interesting Work Being Done by United States Geological Survey.

[Special Correspondence.]

Washington, Oct. 6.—While much of the work done by the United States geological survey is technical and consequently uninteresting to the nonscientific citizen, some of it is unique. An instance of this is the making of a topographic map of a curious formation in northeastern Wyoming known as "the Devil's Tower." The Indians call it "the Bad God's Tower."

It is a volcanic core of great age, a wonderfully symmetrical shaft of stone, towering 225 feet almost perpendicularly above the surrounding country. In spite of its great height it is in reality but the remnant of a former widespread lava flow.

When the region has been mapped, the topographic work on the Black Hills uplift, which has been carried on for some time by the geological survey, will be completed, and maps of this important region will be available to the public. Within recent years two special maps were made by the government of the valuable mineral belt in the vicinity of Deadwood and Lead, and since then the remaining area has been carefully surveyed on a scale of 1:50,000. The Black Hills are partially occupied by a government forest reserve of the same name, covering over 1,200,000 acres. They contain rich deposits of valuable ore and also bear an important relation to the water supply of the great plains, as the water bearing beds underlying the plains are here upturned on the flanks of the mountains and receive a considerable portion of their supply from the streams of the region.

Another interesting investigation is that being made of the rock formations known to geologists as pre-Cambrian and metamorphic, which comprise some of the oldest known rocks of the world. Until within recent years much less has been known about these formations than about those of later date, and they have offered some of the most perplexing problems of the science by reason of their intensely folded, crystallized and chemically altered conditions, which have resulted from the enormous pressure and heat to which they have been subjected in the past. These ancient rocks, however, are of great economic importance, as they contain some of the richest deposits of iron, copper and other useful minerals to be found in the country. This is especially true of those found in the famous Lake Superior mining region.

Professor C. R. Van Hise, who for a number of years has devoted himself particularly to the investigation of the metamorphic formations, has been placed by the United States geological survey in charge of its studies of this important group. He is being assisted by Mr. C. K. Leith in the preparation of a comprehensive monograph of the Lake Superior region, by Dr. W. S. Bayley in the completion of field work in the famous Menominee district, by Dr. W. H. Hobbs in the continuation of surveys in Connecticut, where the metamorphic problems are of decided interest, and by Dr. Florence Bascom in the Pennsylvania district.

Dr. Campbell of the United States geological survey has made an elaborate and interesting report on the borax deposits of Death valley and the Mojave desert, California, which will soon be printed. The discovery in 1899 of the borax crust in Death valley revolutionized the industry. A mine was established on the bedded deposit at Borate, twelve miles northeast of Daguerre, San Bernardino county, Cal., and at the present time this plant is the chief producer of borax in this country. The value of this deposit led to extensive prospecting and to the discovery in Death valley of enormous deposits, far exceeding those now worked near Daguerre.

Mojave desert is located in Kern, Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties, Cal., and lies in the angle between the Sierra Madre on the south, the Sierra Nevada on the west, and thence it stretches eastward to Colorado river and northward to Death valley. Death valley lies fifty miles east of the Sierra Nevada and only a few miles west of the Nevada state line. This valley, about fifty miles long and from five to ten miles wide, is at its lowest point about 450 feet above sea level.

Building a Railroad Across Great Salt Lake

[Special Correspondence.]

Salt Lake City, Oct. 7.—Across the surface of Great Salt Lake is being built a railroad track. When finished, it will be in many respects the most unique piece of roadbed in this or any other country. It is to be known as the Ogden-Luch cutoff and is to be part of the Southern Pacific system.

From this it would seem that it still remains for modern engineering to find an insurmountable puzzle thrown up on the earth's tumbled crust where railroads cannot pass. With cog wheeled engines crawling over Pike's peak, trains rumbling under the Hoosac mountains, trolley cars whizzing under rivers and harbors and spider web tracks swinging over mountain gorges, cascades and rapids, it is difficult to find wonders of construction to amaze the traveling public. Lying across the surface of America's most famous lake will, however, be a novel sensation even to the most experienced globe trotter.

Several original and highly interesting problems of railroad construction have thus far been developed. Unusual methods are adopted in building the cutoff across the great lake, and to see Italian graders and track layers in boots reaching to their waists working like beavers in the water is a picture of railroad construction not often seen.

The permanent track is now laid for a distance of about seventeen miles from Ogden west. The shore being 14.5 miles from Ogden, it can be seen that the line is already well into the water. The company intends to construct a solid roadbed in the lake as far as shallow water is found, and the piling will only be done where it is impossible to continue the filling in process.

When the men first attempted to enter what was formerly the bed of the lake, it was found that the salt crust was a deep layer of mud, and it was impossible to proceed in the regular way. To overcome this difficulty a heavy flooring was laid to the south of the stakes set for the track center, and on this was gradually built a temporary track for some thousand feet.

From this trains of rock were unloaded to the north, filling in a foundation for the permanent track. When enough material was unloaded, the track was moved to its permanent location and the flooring used for further temporary track. In this way the mud flats were crossed. Then the track was gradually raised, work that is still going on.

Another difficulty was encountered in the fact that the water is so dense that "everything" floats. One of the laborers tried to prove that crowsbars would float. A solid foundation was the first requisite, and here, too, the temporary track comes into prominence. The manner of building this track is unique.

Sand in 100 pound sacks is brought to the end of the permanent track and loaded upon rafts, which are floated and poled to the front. The sacks are laid in the water south of the track center stakes crosswise and as many layers deep as is necessary to raise the top to just above the water. On these foundations are laid 12 by 12 inch caps. Then lengthwise are stretched 8 by 17 inch stringers, which are 30 feet long. The ties and rails are then laid on this temporary structure, and the train loaded with rock moves to the end and unloads on the north to fill in for permanent grade.

The track is moved to the final position as soon as the rock and earth are above the water, and when so moved the material is constantly unloaded to raise the track. In the end it will be fifteen feet above water and twenty-four feet wide on top.

The whole line is being constructed in the strongest and best possible manner and when completed will be equal to any piece of track in the country. It will be the main line of the Southern Pacific trains between Ogden and San Francisco, and as the company at Ogden receives and delivers passengers from and to all Omaha, Denver and Salt Lake City lines it will prove to be an interesting part of the overland journey, and a large portion of the traveling public will eventually pass over the line. The scenery is superb, and on account of the reputation of the lake as a natural curiosity it will prove a great attraction for the line.

Her Plan.

"I've been two weeks trying to coax my husband to give me $50 to buy a new dress," complained Mrs. Gazzam to Mrs. Wiffles.

"I never do that."

"What do you do?"

"I have my new dress charged and leave my husband to fight it out with the collector."—Harper's Bazar.

MORE FOOTBALL DEVICES.

Brace to Protect Ankles and the Tackling Dummy Improved.

The opening of the football season brings to light a couple of new things in the line of protection against injuries for the players, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. One is a brace for the ankle.

It has been invented by Mike Murphy, the Yale trainer, and consists of a flat piece of fine steel which is placed at the inside of the ankle between the lining and outside of the shoe. It has a joint so as to allow free play to the ankle, but is quite effective in preventing turns and sprains.

Jack McMaisters, the Harvard trainer, has made some improvements on the tackling dummy. McMaisters was a firm believer in the effectiveness of the tackling dummy for developing players when it was first brought into use at Princeton when he was trainer there.

His new arrangement makes the dummy more lifelike, for when a player tackles it as hard as he should the actual dummy part falls from the rope which suspends it through the action of a spring.

A new suit which bids fair to attain some popularity this year is made in practically one piece, as the jacket and breeches are joined by an elastic band. Such a suit was worn a good deal last year and the year before, but was not made as one. The band at the waist is an advantage, as it removes the possibility of an opponent making a tackle by getting his hand under the jacket or trousers.

PROPER MIDWAY DESIRED.

St. Louis Fair Lady Managers Say Dances Must Be Decent.

The Midway at the St. Louis exposition is going to be sprightly and up to date, but it will not depend on unwholesome features to give it popularity, says a special from St. Louis to the New York World. Miss Helen M. Gould is looking out for this and is supported by the entire board of lady managers. Miss Gould recently introduced this resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

"It is the earnest desire of the board of lady managers of the world's fair that there be no indecent dances or other improper exhibits in the Midway during the exposition and that the Exposition company be urged to use the utmost care in awarding concessions for the shows in order that there be no objectionable features."

First of all, the "hoogie-coogie" dance will be barred. In the discussion preceding the adoption of the resolution references were made to the dances "which were a feature" of the Chicago exposition, and it was hoped that similar exhibits would not be permitted to cast a stain upon the name of the Louisiana purchase show.

The lady managers are going to keep a sharp eye on the concessions made to Midway managers, and any who present performances not in keeping with the clean policy decided upon will be given short shrift.

Miss Gould announced that she would be pleased to entertain the members of the board at her home in New York on Nov. 17, the date set for the next meeting. The invitation was accepted, with expressions of much pleasure.

WILL PLAY POOL FOR COAL.

Treasured Nuggets Weighing a Ton Prize in the Montauk Club.

Not India's treasure is the lure. Nor yet the flashing Kohinoor. But a prize that is more precious far Than the rosy ruby of Kandahar. For the bottle will fall and the balls will roll.

And the prize will be a ton of coal.

This is a tale of the park slope, Brooklyn, and of the coming bottle pool tournament of the Montauk club, the prize of which is to be a ton of shining black anthracite, says the New York Herald. The tournament will be played on Oct. 18, and already there are thirty-four contestants entered. The magnitude of the prize has attracted all the pool players of the club.

Thomas H. Troy, president, is responsible for the idea. "I want to do something that 'll make 'em gasp," said Mr. Troy.

D. B. Heisenhuetel, a wealthy coal man, said, "I'll furnish the coal—real coal."

Solving the Coal Problem.

The whole fuel problem might be easily solved, says the Atlanta Journal, if we could only burn a few tons of the anthracite coal mines.

Exhibitions For South Africa.

The Cape Town exhibition next year will be followed in 1914 by an international peace exhibition in Johannesburg.

WORK OF COAL MINERS

Light on the Conditions in the Mines.

ALLEGED CAUSE OF THE STRIKE.

Scranton Editor Says It Was Preceded by the Miners to Prevent Laborers From Revolting—Miners Earn From $50 to $100 a Month. One of Their Jokes.

A Boston business man recently wrote to the editor of the Scranton Tribune, the leading paper of northeastern Pennsylvania, asking him for some light on the conditions of the work of the coal miners, says the New York Times. The following is the reply:

"Replying to your inquiry of Oct. 1, I will try to explain mining conditions to you as briefly as possible. 'The miner drills the hole in the coal seam, inserts the powder, fires the blast which knocks the coal down and then takes a rest, while his helper pulls the coal out and loads it into the mine car. A miner in four to six hours, with easy work, can ordinarily knock down enough coal to keep his helper busy for eight to ten hours or longer. The miner is paid by the car in this region, averaging about a dollar a car, and the usual day's work is six cars, holding about 3,000 pounds of lump coal, rock 'bony' and slate."

"Of this $6 gross earnings the miner pays $2 to the laborer and keeps $4 for himself, out of which he must pay for the powder he uses, oil, wicks, fuses and the sharpening of his picks. In some places the unit of pay is the square yard of coal in the seam and in others a weight unit of 2,750 pounds. It being claimed by the operators that on an average it will take from 2,700 to 3,000 pounds of gross coal—that is, coal as it comes from the seam—to net one ton of 2,250 pounds of coal as prepared at the breaker for market."

"The miners claim that where the unit of payment is the mine car the car of today is bigger than in years gone by and continually growing. One of their jokes is that the mine car is made of live oak."

"However this may be (and my personal belief is that there is just about as much honesty on one side as on the other), it is a fact that the industrious miner averages, net, per month, for about twenty days' work of from four to six hours a day all the way from $60 to $100 a month and could make twice as much if he would blow enough coal to keep two laborers employed instead of one. Today miners who are 'scabbing' work as high as ten chambers apiece and earn in some cases $20 a day. But it is a peculiar fact that under normal conditions the miner does not seem to be ambitious to do more than one chamber at a time or to work beyond five or six hours a day."

"The real cause of this strike was that the miners' helpers, who are mostly foreigners, had got it into their heads that the miners were not making a fair divide. They were organizing a mine laborers' movement to force the miners to divide even. The operators have nothing to do with hiring the helpers. They are hired by the miners themselves. To avert a substrike among their 'bottles,' as the laborers are called, the miners swung the general strike, ostensibly for the points set forth in their published demands, but in reality to enable the union to control discipline and thus put it beyond the power of the laborer to revolt."

"In the mines also are many 'company bands,' men paid by the mouth to run engines, act as firemen, attend to the pumps, etc. The union's demand for an eight hour day was to call them in the strike. They are getting good wages—engineers, $60 to $80 a month for long hours, but light work, and others in proportion. Nine-tenths of these men were entirely satisfied, and many of them refused to go out."

"When the coal in big lumps comes from the mine or pit, it is passed through a high structure called the breaker, where it is broken by steam machinery into the various sizes and the impurities are picked out. Much of the labor in the breaker is done by boys, who average 75 cents a day. They have no complaint for their pay is better than that of the average lad in a city office. But they belong to the union and have votes in the calling of strikes, and the idea of striking has developed among them rapidly. Last year in this end of the coalfields there were a hundred odd local strikes, mostly over the pettiest conceivable things, and the breaker boy and barroom loafer element had a good deal to do with declaring them."

"I have lived in the anthracite region fourteen years, and I know that in the year 1901 the miners earned more money than ever before during my time. Our banks are full of their savings, very little of which has yet been drawn out, in spite of their five months' idleness. There is no similar grade of labor in the country which is better paid than the anthracite coal miner, and no workman more independent, because the law of the state practically gives him a monopoly of the labor of mining by forbidding any but a licensed miner to work at mining in the mines. To get a license, or certificate, as it is called, he must first have worked at least two years in the mines as a laborer and then pass an examination to show that he knows enough about the peculiar requirements of mining to be a safe man to admit to a chamber."

An Advance in Prices. The police commissioners of San Francisco have recommended to the supervisors the adoption of an ordinance which will prohibit the sale of liquors as drugs.

BOON FOR LUMBERMEN.

Advantages of a New System For Towing Logs.

A new system for towing logs has just been devised in the northwest, says the New York Evening Post. A successful raft in British Columbia is thus described: Under the new system several lengths of galvanized plow steel wire cable, each 250 feet long, were strung from the rear of the tug in one long rope. At intervals of fifteen feet "clips" were attached, to which half inch chains were made fast. The ends of the chains were passed through holes bored slantingly through the ends of the logs. It was found that this method did away with the necessity of the tug making for a shelter when a storm threatened and thus accomplished a large saving in time. The number of feet in the next raft, which will be started in a few days, will be 300,000, and if this is successfully handled the following one will contain 500,000 feet.

The logs are cut in forty-eight foot lengths and are bucked up after reaching their destination. Close observation of the raft, which was taken to Port Gamble, showed that the chains as used did not allow the logs to roll over and thus break up the tow. It was also found that the tug made better time with the same quantity under the new conditions than with logs in a boom. The special feature of the device which will appeal to lumbermen compelled to raft on the ocean is the low cost of getting the logs to tide water.

FAMOUS DEBATE SPOT.

Women of Freeport, Ill., Agree on Place Where Lincoln Met Douglas.

The women of Freeport, Ill., have finally found and have now substantially marked the spot on which took place the famous Lincoln-Douglas debate, says the Chicago Evening Post. There has been an extraordinary delay of over a year concerning this matter. The old timers failed to agree as to the exact locality of the stand from which the speeches were made.

Finally the corner of Douglas avenue and Mehanic street was agreed upon, when a committee of the Freeport Women's club went to Devil's Lake, Wis., and secured a huge boulder, which will be brought to the city and placed in position with fitting ceremonies.

IMPORTANT TIMBER TESTS.

Machinery of the Most Approved Sort Will Be Used.

Preparations are being made by the bureau of forestry for extensive tests in the strength and durability of timbers in various parts of the country, most of them scarcely known to manufacturers and lumber dealers. The Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune. Many tests made of the strength of well known timber are particularly deficient on account of the faulty machinery used in testing. The machinery to be used in these new tests is of the most approved sort, and the tests will be final in the minds of dealers and builders. Experiments are constantly being made in this bureau with timbers neglected by lumbermen throughout the country, but which under careful treatment are made to take the place of the various forest growths which are in such constant demand as to threaten the destruction of the species in some parts of the country.

Along this line the department has just made a report on the much despised hemlock, so prolific in the extreme west. By fair tests made of the wood it is shown by the department that it can in a measure be substituted for redwood or cedar, many forests of which have been entirely demolished by injudicious cutting. The report shows that hemlock is best adapted for uses which require ease of working, handsome finish and lightness combined with considerable strength.

It has been found suitable for flooring, joists and scantling, laths, siding, ceiling and other such purposes, excelling most other woods for boxes. Tests are also being carefully carried on in the Philippines, where the inroads of insects are so great.

HIS LIFE IN PERIL.

"I just seemed to have gone all to pieces," writes Alfred Bee, of Welfare, Tex., "biliousness and a lame back had made life a burden. I couldn't eat or sleep and felt almost too worn out to work when I began to use Electric Bitters, but they worked wonders. Now I sleep like a top, can eat anything, have gained in strength and enjoy hard work." They give vigorous health and new life to weak, sickly, run-down people. Try them.
